

Question

How to determine the right order to code the functions. I often wonder and need a lot of time to figure out what would be the hints that indicate which functions to code first so that they could be used as a helper functions to build on for other functions.